*Best Wishes
Osteen*

To Thee
We Dedicate
~
Miss Osteen

Perhaps the desire to learn is the most important tool along the road to knowledge. The warm, inspiring atmosphere of F-2 and the soft-spoken encouragement and enthusiasm with which Miss Osteen helps her students places this desire in their minds. Her patience, guidance, and devotion set a living example for each of us.

The simple words-thank you-can in no way repay the debt we owe her. But through the skillful application of the knowledge imparted to each of us by Miss Osteen we can build better characters, and become better citizens, thus offering her the greatest expression of our gratitude.

*Judy,
you are a sweet, quiet but sweet girl and I know you will go far in life. May you always have the best and May God Bless you always.*

*Love
Maryanne*

Nothing great ever will be accomplished without an exuberant spirit. As we entered the halls of learning our school spirit was born. Since then it has climbed and faltered as we did. Wearing no disguise, but often not easily found, it is our constant companion to classes, club meetings, assemblies, ball games, and in all other school activities. The degree of our school spirit will determine the success of our school.

Dear Judy,

May God bless and keep you always. I've enjoyed knowing such a sweet girl with such a wonderful smile. Keep it!

IN MEMORIAM

On October 11, 1962, Joe Bishop was killed in a boating accident on Osceola Lake. The loss of Joe's refreshing personality has left a void in his wide circle of friends. Always a courteous person, he exhibited a willingness to be of service to teachers and students at all times.

*"Of all the wonders that I yet have heard,
It seems to me most strange that men should fear;
Seeing that death, a necessary end,
Will come when it will come . . .
Cowards die many times before their death; . . .
The valiant never taste of death but once."*

—Shakespeare

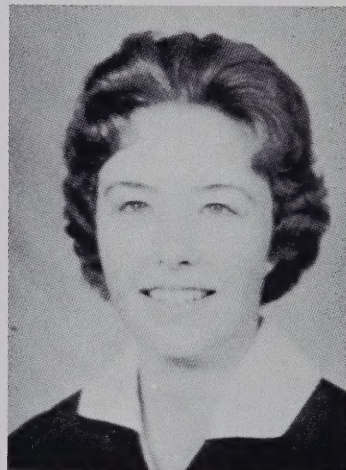

Barbara Gilliam died—a victim of leukemia—on September 16, 1962. Striving constantly to attain her major goal in life, that of graduating from high school, Barbara walked hand in hand with the shadow of death. Never faltering she offered assistance, advice, and pity to all, but expected none in return. Barbara's great courage has been implanted deeply in our minds and characters.

"Question not, but live and labour.

*Till your goal be won,
Helping every feeble neighbour,
Seeking help from none;
Life is mostly froth and bubble,
Two things stand like stone—
Kindness in another's trouble,
Courage in our own."*

F E A T U R E S

East Henderson High School students are noted not only for excelling in sports and in the various intellectual pursuits offered at our school, but also for their personal attractiveness. Selection of outstanding beauties builds school spirit and student morale. Combining talent and looks, the girls featured in this section enhance our halls, classrooms, and gym. Wherever they are, we can be sure of an everlasting spirit which pulls our school forward.

HOMECOMING QUEEN FOR 1962 — Miss Linda Fain

Homecoming Queen

Football is a game which inspires everyone with School Spirit. The girls chosen for the Homecoming Queen and her Court represent our love for beauty mixed with excitement. Chosen as Queen was Miss Linda Fain, with Nona Camp, Diane Carpenter, Linda Baynard, and Dottie Maxwell representing her court. These girls, with our football players, instill excitement in all.

John Edmundson presents Linda with twelve long stemmed red roses.

MISS BEVERLY HUGGINS

As East High's last Senior Miss Hi Miss, the Beta Club has chosen Miss Beverly Huggins. In addition to her beauty and popularity, she has done excellent work all through her school years. She possesses qualities of leadership as well as an abiding interest in all her school activities. All these, with a portion of charm, have been the guiding factors by which she was selected.

MISS JUNE ORR

This year marks a new beginning in the history of Miss Hi Miss, for Winthrop College has designated that in the future a junior girl rather than a senior girl be selected. The Beta Club is to be commended on the selection of Miss June Orr as the first junior to represent East Henderson High School. June was chosen on the basis of her character, leadership, personal attractiveness, and achievement.

Miss Merry Christmas

JANIS SINCLAIR

East Henderson High is honored to present Miss Janis Sinclair as its 1963 CHRISTMAS PRINCESS. Her glowing smile, winning ways, and friendly greeting for all she meets inspire, all year round, the joyous and friendly feelings particularly associated with Christmas. Jan is an excellent example of the Christmas spirit of giving. She always endeavors to give the most of her time and the best of her talents to any project undertaken for the betterment of our school.

Escorted by Max Justice, Princess Jan waves gaily to the crowd.

Jan waits eagerly for the parade to begin.

Apple Festival Representative

MISS JEWEL McCRARY

In selecting our Apple Festival Representative great care must be exercised. She must have all the qualities of a true beauty and still more if she is to bring honor to the image of her school. The poise, charm, and personality of Miss Jewel McCrary made her this year's choice. Representation by such an intelligent and personable young lady brought pride to East Henderson High.

F F A Sweetheart

MISS VERONICA CLAYTON

The Future Farmers of America have honored Miss Veronica Clayton by selecting her as their chapter sweetheart. Veronica—a truly sweet and wholesome girl—has our warmest wishes for a happy reign as F. F. A. Sweetheart.

Miss Highlander

GLEND A GUICE

The Highlander Staff presents Miss Glenda Guice as Miss Highlander of 1963. Warm friendliness, as well as striking beauty and charm, have made her well liked by all. Working hard without complaining, she has contributed her many talents to the making of our annual. East High is proud of Glenda.

A C T I V I T I E S

MOST POPULAR: Beverly Huggins and Joe Taylor

The many activities, in which the students of our school participate, show to some degree the importance of school spirit. The Class Days are entertaining as well as co-operative. On these special days, each of the classes rally to show their best talents and most industrious students. Celebrations are in the air, and each student is proud of his own special class.

Each class adopts a particular costume to show its identity on its respective day. This tends to avoid any mistake as to which class one belongs. Special privileges are enjoyed, and excitement seems to hover over us. These are just a few of the many activities in which we, as students of East High, can take part to do our share in the well-development of our school spirit.

MEMORIES

Dropping anchor in our gymnasium, this show boat sets the stage for a star-studded program.

BANQUET 1962

Twilight on the deck of a Mississippi Showboat creates a romantic setting.

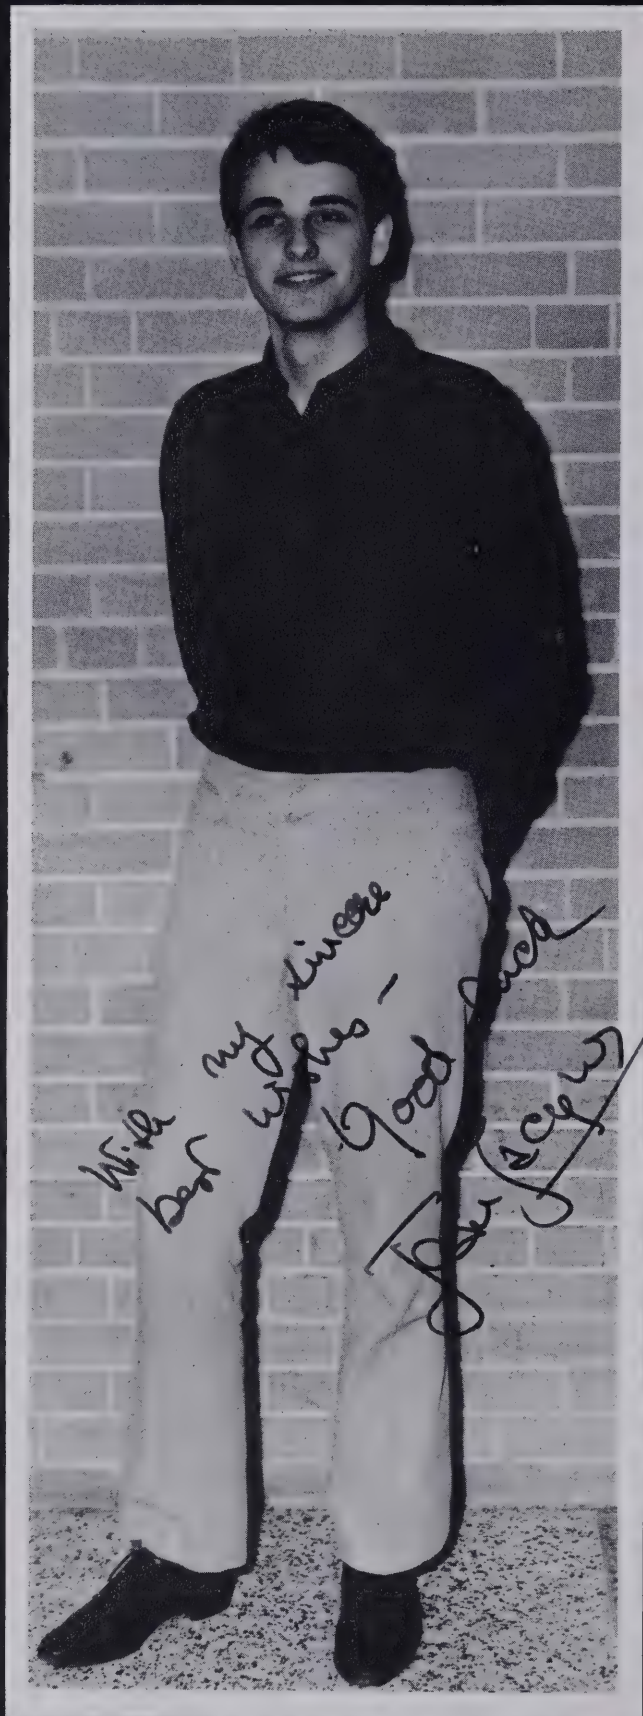

Ripples of the water could be heard as John Miller offers his rendition of "Ole Man River."

Sparkling stars, paper flowers entwined around a picket fence, moss draped from the trees, the bow and silhouette of a boat, and a little imagination transformed our gymnasium into the deck of an old Southern show-boat. Candles aglow and soft music produced an atmosphere of fantasy for the Juniors and Seniors of 1962. All work was more than rewarded as expressions of enchantment and wonder radiated from the faces of students and teachers alike. Many thanks are extended to the Junior class of 1962 for one of the most unforgettable memories in a high school career.

Tapping out the rhythm with their canes, these Southern gentlemen revive the old soft shoe.

Jean-Jacques may be French in thoughts, but in actions he is all-American.

Getting to Know You

East Henderson High School is privileged indeed since we were the first county high school to be asked to accept an exchange student. Our foreign brother, Jean-Jacques Roussel, is an eighteen year old senior. It has been delightful getting to know him.

Being accepted as an exchange student was no easy matter. Jean-Jacques had to be recommended by his teachers and be interviewed by a representative of the American Field Service in France, during which interview he spoke only English. He then had to be approved by the French-American Field Service, the New York Field Service, and the Moultrie Smythe family, with whom he is making his home.

E H H S 's FIRST FOREIGN

Jean-Jacques chats with members of his American family, Mrs. Moultrie Smythe and son, Bill.

Here Jean-Jacques dines with one of the many friends he has made at East, Sandra Thompson.

Jean-Jacques has become very well acquainted with American high school customs by participating in many school clubs. He is an honorary member of the Student Council, the Key Club, and the Beta Club. By attending many ball games and other school activities, he has demonstrated his ever increasing Eagle Spirit.

Having been in Henderson County almost a year, Jean-Jacques will soon return home to Paris, but before he goes, he will tour the rest of the United States. He summed up his feeling about America in this way: "In France and in America, although their appearance is different, the teen-agers are the same. Even if you think we are different, really we are the same in mind."

EXCHANGE STUDENT

OUR FLAG

Rising serenely above the Administration Building the Stars and Stripes wave in the breeze for the first year at East Henderson. As throngs of appreciative faces gaze up at it daily, our debt of gratitude grows deeper to the Civil Air Patrol, donor of the flag and the industrious Senior Class of 1962 who purchased the flag pole. The school also possesses two additional flags presented in memory of Preston Brown and Ralph McMinn, who served in our country's armed forces.

Alma Mater

*In the hills of Carolina
East High stands with pride.
From our hearts we give to her
A love that will abide.*

*East High Eagles soar to heights
For truth and knowledge taught.
Records of her goals and honors
We have proudly sought.*

*Chorus: Hail to thee, our Alma Mater!
Echo the green and white!
Hail East High, our East High School,
May your fame be bright!*

ACRES OF DIAMONDS

As leaders of the Junior class and home rooms these students have demonstrated many of life's diamonds. "Acres of Diamonds" surround us daily. Through a very interesting and inspirational program the Juniors successfully brought this to our attention. Work is a necessary ingredient in obtaining these diamonds which include Education, Co-operation, Friendliness, and Loyalty.

JUNIOR DAY

Our athletic heroes, possessors of many diamonds, deserved recognition. Beverly leads the audience in a rousing cheer, demonstrating our thanks.

The apparent death of Tom Sawyer saddens the hearts of all.

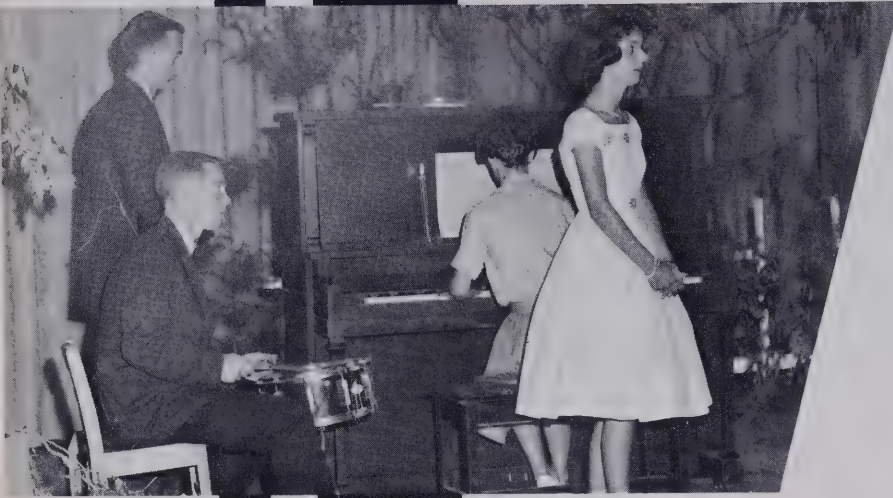

"No sir, Mr. Tom, I's can't help you paint the fence, Mama sent me after a pail of water."

SENIOR DAY

As their last year draws to a close, the Senior Class again amazes us with its diversity of talents. Their Senior Day proved that they were not undaunted by their impending entrance into the bustling world. Sheila McMinn, accompanied by Dick Stratton on the guitar, Paul Patterson on the drums, and Mrs. Saralee Nickell at the piano, sang the lovely song, "Count Every Star."

The Seniors had had an eventful four years and felt quite prepared for any event. They had done much for their Alma Mater and had greatly increased her standing in the county. As their contribution to East, they gave her a flagpole. For their crowning touch to their life as students, they made the customary trip to Washington, D. C.

Our senior boys raise the flagpole which their Class of '62 had given East High.

David Gilbert, the senior president, presents John Edmundson, the rising senior class president, with one of the four keys to the future and the care of East High.

These three lovely misses have brightened many an hour through their years of high school with their harmony.

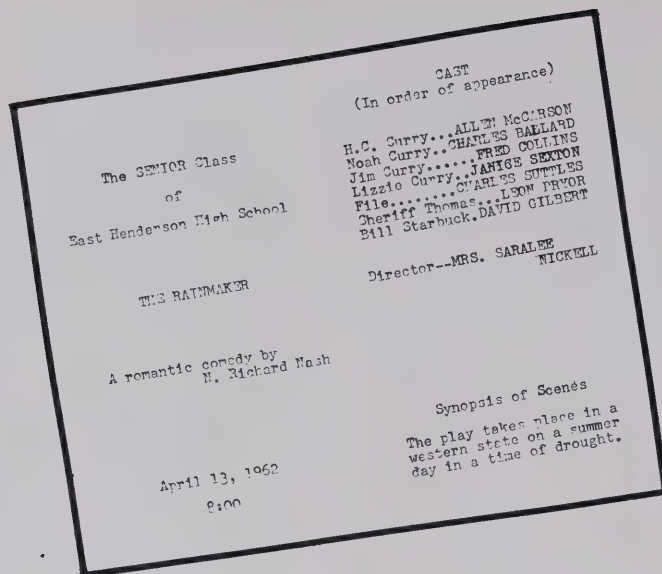

Saundra Anders, secretary-treasurer of the Senior class, presents Timmy Mullinax, the sophomore president, with another key to the future.

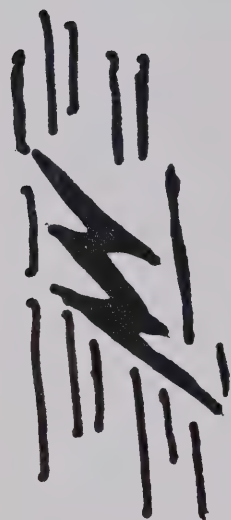

The smiling faces of these seniors reflect their joy as they pose at Luray Caverns.

SENIOR DAY

Starbuck was able to convince Lizzy of his courage, but not of his love.

"RAINMAKER"

One of the most cherished memories East High School holds of the Class of 1962 was their excellent presentation of the world famous Broadway play, the "Rainmaker." Through the diligent efforts of Mrs. Nickell and her well-rehearsed cast, this play was deemed truly meritorious of the praise given it by all.

The characters were excellently portrayed as the all but professional acting brought the small provincial mid-western town to life on the stage. The program brought enchantment to the audience as it unfolded into the lives of a family, whose minds were entangled in the hopeful plot for rain. We heartily salute these hard-working students and teachers who made the "Rainmaker" such a lasting memory in the history of East High.

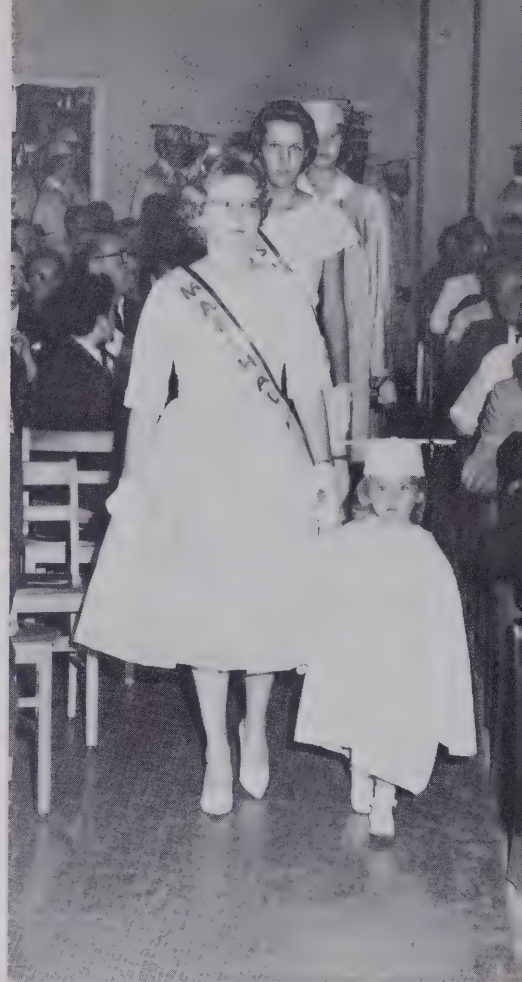

The deputy's courage failed him when it came to eating Sunday dinner with the Currys.

The Curry family was amazed at the feats of the Rainmaker.

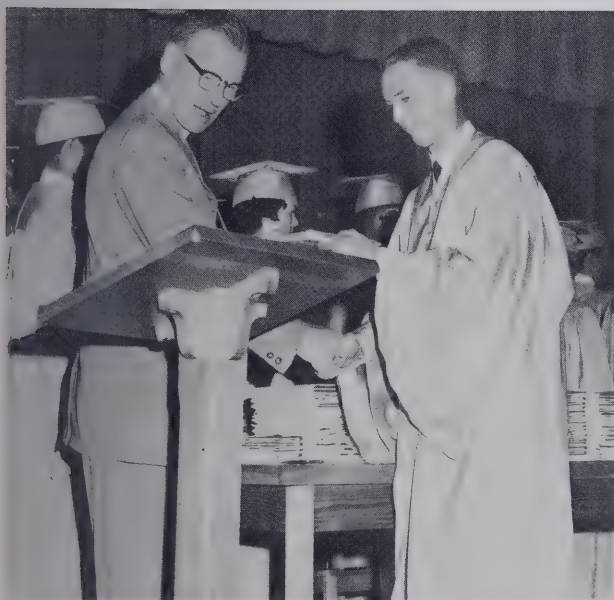

A solemn hush came over the crowd as softly the strands of "Pomp and Circumstance" filled the auditorium. Entering slowly was the procession of our graduating class of 1962. In order to provide their own program, this ambitious class had three of its members as speakers. All too quickly this ended and proudly these graduates marched out, entering upon a new realm of life.

Marshals, Nancy Mull and Annette Redden, lead seniors to receive their diploma.

GRADUATION 1962

Leaving behind a record of great achievements, Dick Stratton receives his diploma from Mr. Justus.

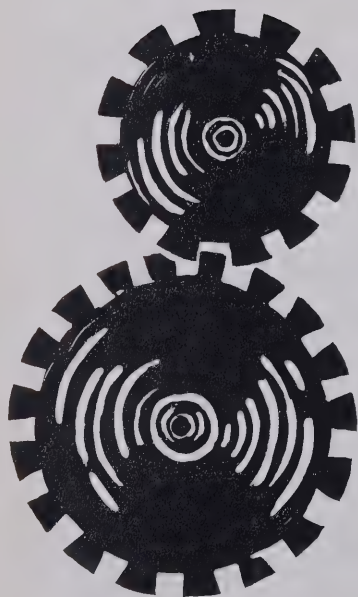

Honor students Dick Stratton, Louise Davis, Linda Ward, Kay Riddle, and Gerald Kronenfeld depict the dependability and scholarship which characterized the Class of 1962.

ASHEVILLE INDUSTRIAL STUDENTS

For the first time this year East Henderson is playing an important role in bettering America's industry by enabling its qualified students to attend the Industrial Education Center in Asheville. Upon being approved by Mr. Justus these boys must pass a series of examinations to determine their abilities.

Their efforts are rewarded by their being given credits toward graduation from East. From the students at IEC, Buncombe County business men select employees for the industries, further rewarding them. The valuable information and training these boys receive insure the continued success and progress of American industries.

MOST ATHLETIC: May Hill and Harold Corn

When we hear of school spirit immediately our thoughts turn to athletics:

Defeats,

Cheers,

"Go, Eagles, go!"

Although sports aren't the only means through which school spirit is demonstrated let's support our Eagles as they proudly carry our green and white banner higher.

1962 marked just the second season of football at East; however the Eagles definitely established themselves as a power in the tri-county conference. Our team came through in good style with five victories, against three defeats, with one tie.

In the opening game, the Eagles found an easy win as they rolled over Marshall 26-14. Another impressive victory was the East-Bethel contest. Our Eagles handed the Blue Demons a 27-14 defeat.

TO NEW HEIGHTS

Our Homecoming memories shall always recall the thrilling match between our East High and county rival West. In a game fought down to the wire, the clock ran out with the score deadlocked 7-7.

Among our most outstanding players were five Seniors; they were honored by positions on the All-Conference team. Nominated for the first team were John Carpenter and Larry Williams. Harold Corn and Dennis Kronenfeld were elected to the second team. Eagle Quarterback, Roger Dalton, received honorable mention.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The Eaglettes, under the instruction of Miss Wilkie for the first year, have shown steady improvement throughout the season. Our girls have exhibited the desire to learn which always contributes to the improvement of a team. With the upcoming Jayvee girls adding to the squad, next year we anticipate a better-than-ever season.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Seldom does East Henderson lack a good basketball squad. This year was certainly no exception; four of last year's five starters returned to the lineup to give the Eagles one of the most powerful teams in the Tri-County Conference. Displaying a high degree of shooting accuracy, control of the backboards, drive, and determination, our Eagles are well matched with such highly rated teams as T. C. Roberson, Erwin, and Reynolds.

MR. AND MISS SCHOOL SPIRIT: Jan Sinclair and Dennis Kronenfeld

Pride in the name East Henderson has placed a spark of great school spirit in the midst of our organizations. Serving as trojans they work diligently, competently separately, together undertaking vast new projects always for the betterment of this our school.

This spirit brings confidence their achievements become ours their failures — well, they rarely fail.

The height to which East High rises is largely determined by our organizations. They are depended upon by the county as well as the community. They express pride in our school; we can express pride in them.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Student Council performs a large function in the life of the students at East High. They sponsor many projects during the course of a school year. Here one sees the sponsor, Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers and the officers of the Student Council: Bruce Summey, vice-president; Max Justice, president; Judy Ballard, secretary; Beverly Huggins, treasurer. These capable people wrote our Alma Mater.

Here Nancy Mull, a member of the student body, has one of the many Christmas boxes which is an annual project of the Student Council. Other such projects are the chocolate sales, the keeping of the school store, getting letters for a school sign, and raising money to use in a summer foreign exchange program.

STUDENT COUNCIL

... Our Governing Force

One of their many activities is selling programs at the football games.

HAVE AN "E"?

The newly-formed Monogram Club has already made its presence known. East High has benefited greatly from the hard work of its industrious members. To be a member one must have received a letter for some feat, either in athletics or cheering. We are proud of these students who keep us on our toes to attain their kind of achievement.

Leading this newly-formed club are Joe Taylor, President; Glenda Guice, Secretary-Treasurer; Ronald Beddingfield, Vice President.

COMPLETE CHAOS

Pens, pencils, and people flying everywhere denote the fervor with which the yearbook staff works to give the school the best yearbook yet. These people work diligently to perfect a book that will really give a completely accurate remembrance of school happenings years later.

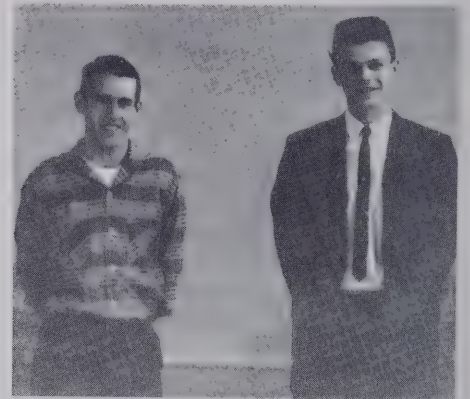

For every picture there must be copy. The burden of providing this rests on the shoulders of Annette Redden, literary editor, and Marie Morrow, assistant literary editor.

Kathy Wright, assistant editor, receives some advice from Miss Jamerson, our sponsor.

Planning and supervising an annual causes many headaches, but Glenda Guice, editor, more than filled her position.

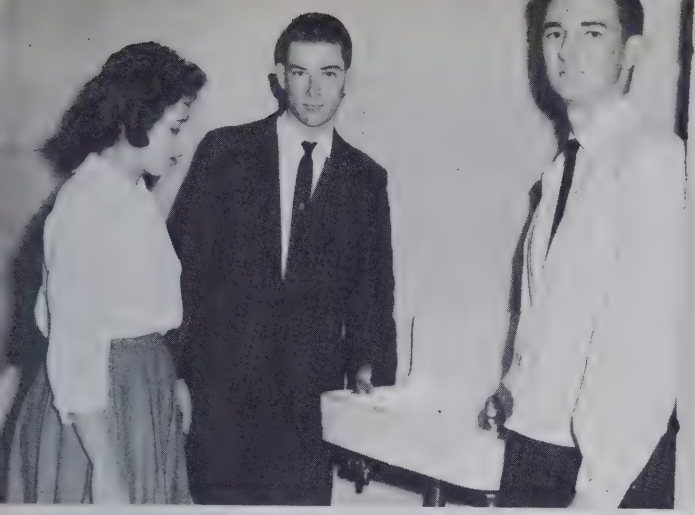

Sports editors, John Edmundson, and Mike Jones, make the scene at all East's games to render their eye-witness report.

Nancy Mull, layout editor, and June Orr, her assistant, have difficulty in providing space for every picture.

BUSINESS STAFF

These students mix ability with pride to make our annual what it is: Carolyn Hoots, Business Manager; Bert King, Advertising Manager; John Davis, Assistant Business Manager.

METICULOUS MONEY MAKERS

These individuals are the backbone of all efforts directed toward getting the annual published. In the fall of the year one can always see these people earnestly soliciting ads to pay for the school's yearbook. Without them there would be a considerable handicap on the rest of the staff. These people truly work; students will remember them as the ones who took their subscriptions, sold name labels, and student directories.

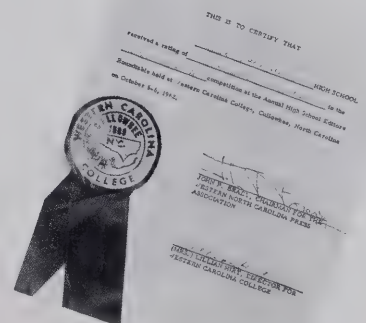

Dottie Davis and Pat Cabe lend a helping hand in typing for our annual.

Selling subscriptions for the annual was a lot of work, as Gail Whitlock and Pat Brady well know.

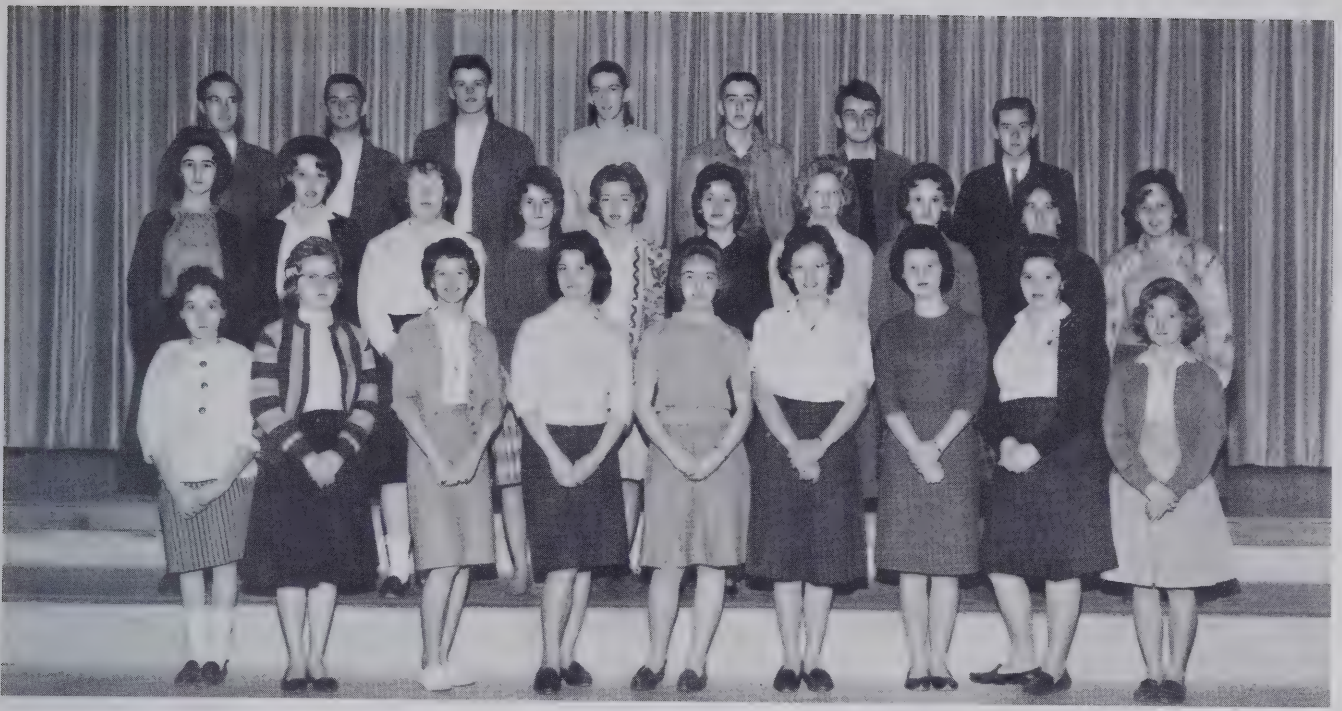

Into the hands of Mike Jones, a representative of the new Beta Club Members, Annette places the keys which are characteristic of all Beta members.

SMOOTH, SMART, AND STUDIOUS

To be a member of the Beta Club is one of the highest honors a student can receive. Only those of excellent character, leadership, and achievement are selected. During the year the Beta Club participated in different projects, and choosing the Miss Hi Misses is just one of their jobs. Going to the state convention every spring is the highlight of the year. Students strive to attain the honor of belonging to this club, and the ones who do have accomplished an envious goal.

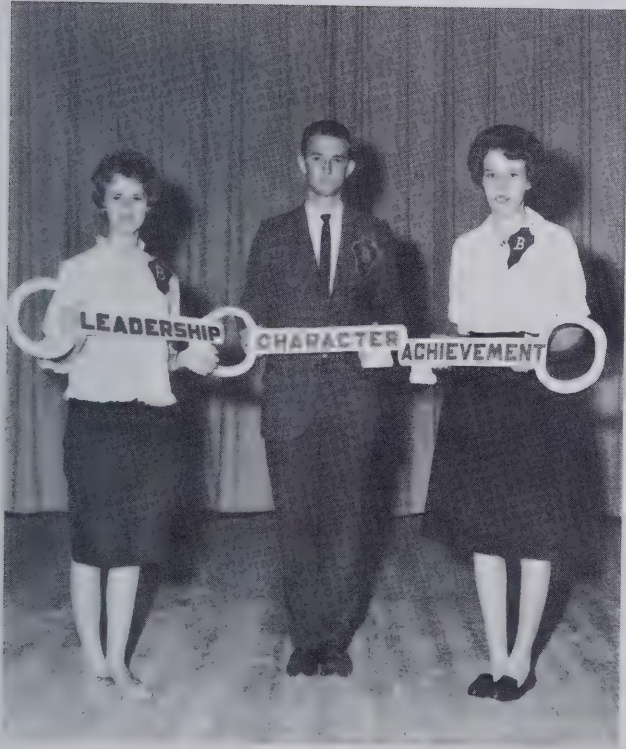

Displaying the key to achievement, Kathy Wright, explains its true meaning.

Each month the newspaper staff makes an effort to print only that which is both interesting and informative to the students. Records of ball games, activities, and "gossip" are to be found in the Courier. Selecting a student or teacher of the month has proved to be an interesting way of praising people for jobs well done, and "Hortense" dispenses advice to answer your problems. The staff has done an excellent job and our newspaper is one to be proud of.

These people find little difficulty in selling the newspaper, for generally there just aren't enough to go around.

SCRAPS OF SUNSHINE

East High's student body believes in growth in every area of life; social, intellectual, physical, and spiritual. The single organization of a religious nature in our school is the Hy-Shy-Ny Club, whose chief purpose is to promote the study of the Bible. To attain this goal, its members plan assembly programs, construct bulletin board displays, and prepare favors for use in hospital rooms. This year the club participated in National Bible Week by sponsoring daily devotions and displaying the official banner of that week: "The Bible Builds Bridges, Not Walls". Social activities of the club included a Halloween and Christmas Party.

Toward New Horizons

The Future Homemakers of America are beginners in what will one day be their most important job. In this club, girls are guided in the right direction in homemaking. Hard work only stimulates them, and helping others matures them. Each member endeavors to get her Junior Degree, Chapter Degree, and then her State Degree. When she attains all this, she is ready for her role as a Homemaker.

Eager to demonstrate that which they have learned, these members find that the Spring Fashion Show affords a perfect opportunity.

Members of the Future Farmers of America seem to speak agriculture, as well they should, for the club tends to promote farming. As their name implies, they will one day be America's farmers, and the training they receive now will benefit them greatly. If all farmers are like our future farmers, this country will come out on top in the field of agriculture.

To gladden the hearts of small children at Christmas, these future farmers works diligently on their Santa Pal project.

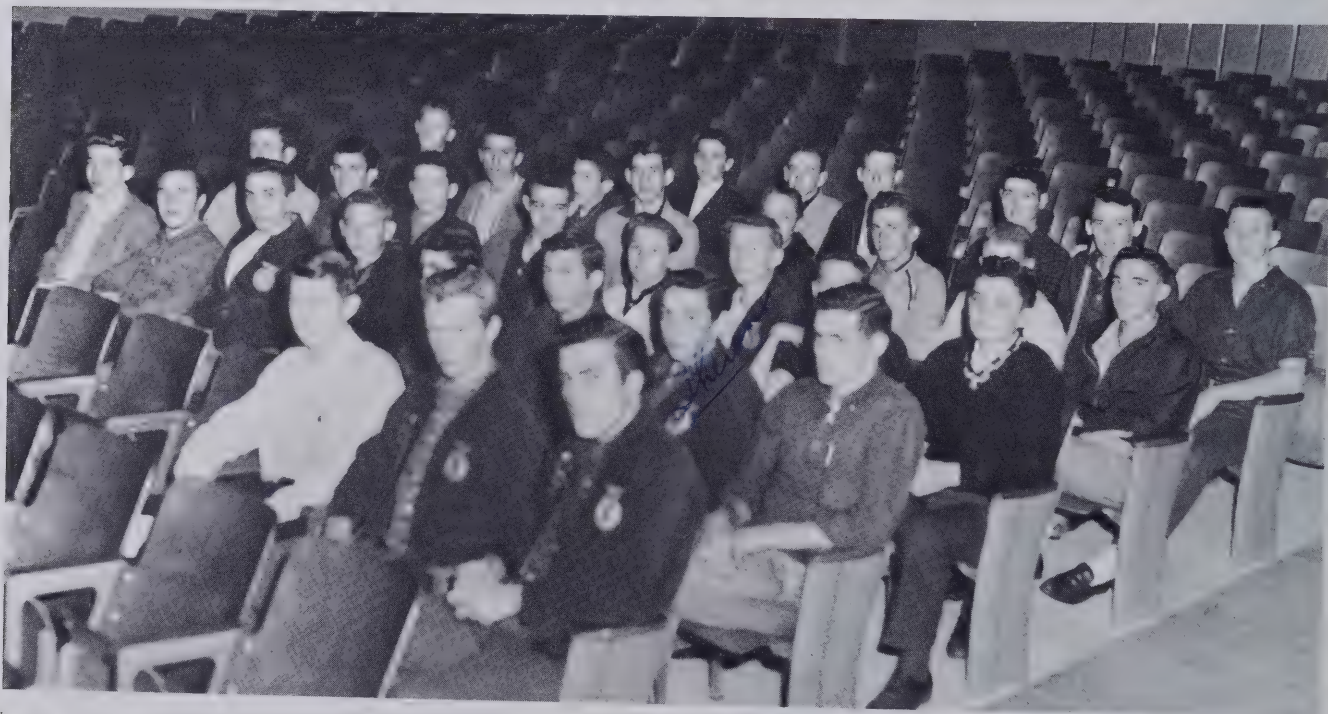

Leaders of this year's Future Farmers of America are Theron Maybin, Vice-President, Richard Hyder, President, Glenn Newman, Reporter, Bobby Holbert, Secretary, David Freeman, Sentinel. Their more than willing sponsors are Mr. McCall and Mr. Ashburn.

Helping others is their job, and they do it well.

QUIET, PLEASE

Of what use are books if there are no readers? It is only through reading that the words of books and the function of libraries become vital. Reading is not an inherited skill, but an acquired ability. One purpose of the Library Club is to promote reading interest: another, to provide adequate facilities.

The East Henderson High School Library has a collection of books numbering around 4,500. At all times members of the Library Club strive to maintain a quiet and pleasant atmosphere for satisfactory reading and study.

OPEN DOORS

These young men hold a key which will always open doors for they hold a key of service. This group is composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, who serve the school by helping in concession stands at ball games, and serving as escorts at the Homecoming. Their current project is buying tables for the lunchroom to use at suppers and otherwise to be used in Key Club meetings.

One of the many activities of the Key Club is tending the concession stand during ballgames.

Management of the entire school system, establishment of the policies and requirements governing the schools are burdens of the county administration. Their lenience enables our school spirit to flourish. Their rigidity guides it into the right channels. By utilizing the opportunities given us, we lighten their responsibilities and reward them only slightly.

BEST ALL AROUND: Judy Ballard and John Edmundson

Our success in the vast horizon lying before us will be largely determined by the foundation we have laid in the past four years.

The nostalgic memories we hold so dear—

wonderful friends,

the first assembly,

cheering for our own teams,

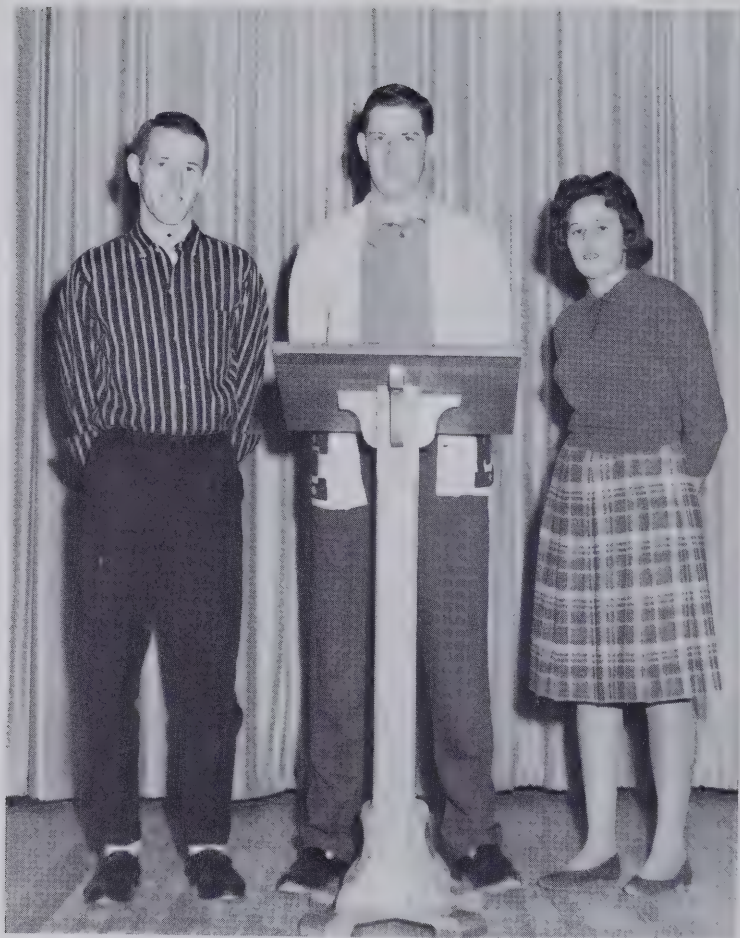

club membership,

the unforgettable Junior-Senior

our class ring,

finally our cap and gown—

are all reflections of the school spirit we have developed and employed in reaching this milestone in our lives. This spirit, although aimed toward new goals, will continue to be our inspiration

For the past four years John Edmundson, President, has diligently led the Class of 1963 through the ups and downs of its high school career. This year he is ably assisted in his executive responsibilities by Harold Corn, Vice-President, and Carolyn Hoots, Secretary-Treasurer.

Their many duties include raising money for the traditional Senior trip to our nation's capital. To accomplish this major project, class members have sponsored the sale of magazines and class pins.

The Class of 1963 has selected the dogwood as their flower and blue and white as their colors. Their motto is "Out of many, one".

CLASS OF 1963

NEATEST: Jewel McCrary and Jerry King

Reluctantly we assumed the responsibilities, tasks, and assignments which came with the third year of high school. Gradually we learned that no obstacle was too great nor too difficult to be overcome.

We had to think—

Chemical equations

Lab experiments

Theorems and postulates

American history dates, people, and worst yet term papers

English themes, themes, themes.

It wasn't all work; there were pleasures—being members and officers in clubs participating and being a major part in athletics beginning projects for the true betterment of our school greatest of all—preparing for and enjoying our own Junior-Senior.

The high degree of school spirit with which these were undertaken has led to their successful completion. Depending on this same spirit we confidently prepare to become the guiding forces of our school.

J U N I O R S

Jimmy Blackwell, as president of the junior class, has shown excellent leadership. Assisting him are June Orr, Vice President, and Veronica Clayton, Secretary-Treasurer. Among their many duties are such responsibilities as planning for the Junior-Senior, organizing the activities for Junior Day, and heading the different projects in which the Juniors participate.

As freshmen, the juniors chose their class colors, flower, and motto. The red and white represents their courage and loyalty; the carnation shows their appreciation for lovely things; their motto, "Truth Conquers All," is best applied to the resolutions they make to do their best and show honesty in all affairs.

Junior Activities

Victory, victory WAS our cry!—East-West Debate

"I'll give you this shiny red apple if you will let me paint your fence."

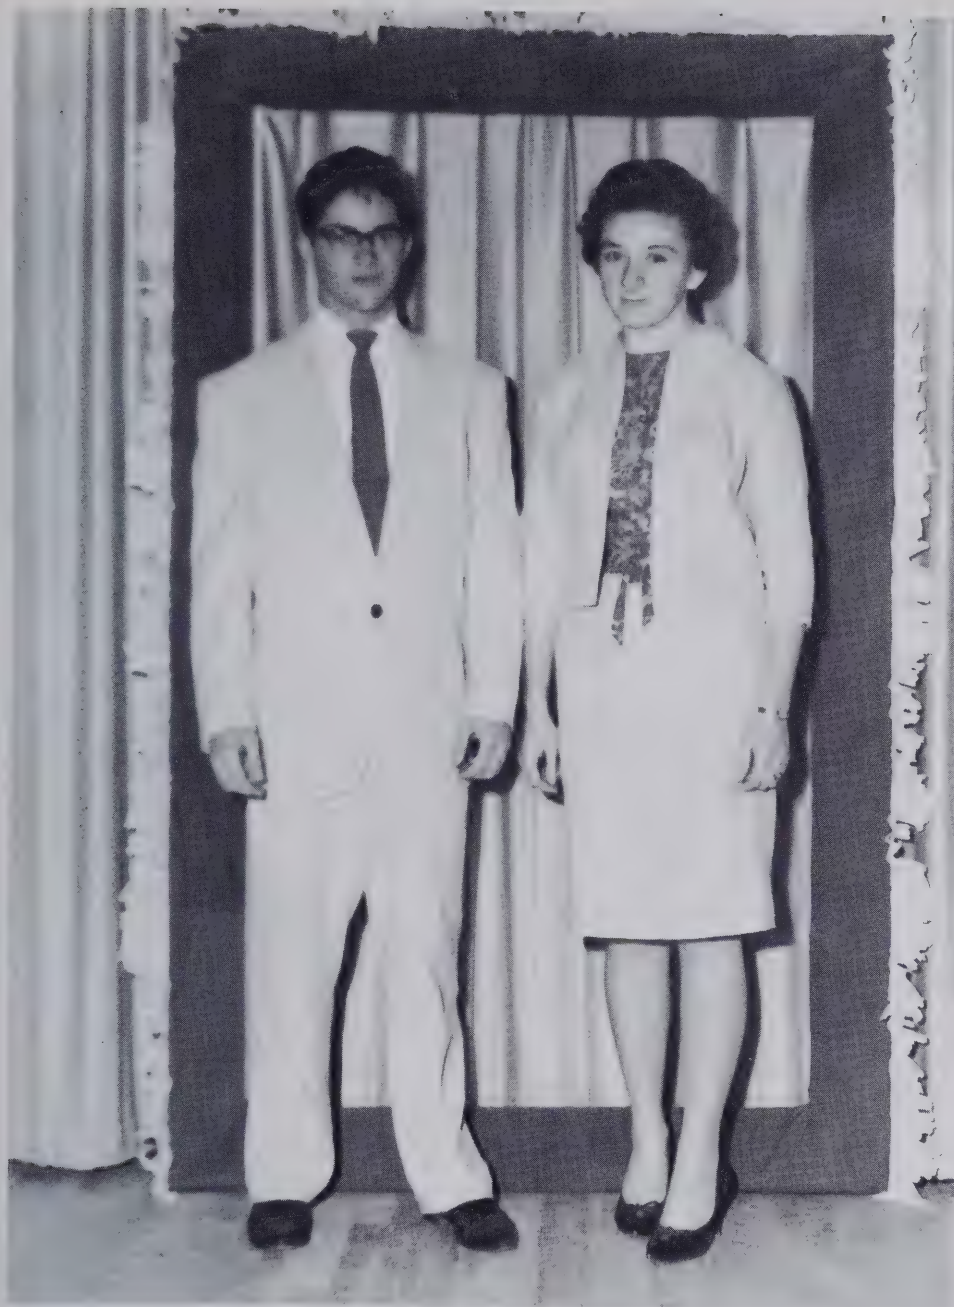

Steaming down the Mississippi in East's gym.

"False face must hide what the false heart doth know."

... W. S.

MOST COURTEOUS: Pat Cabe and Carl Osteen

As sophomores we are beginning to realize the huge tasks before us. We are caught in a whirlwind of school spirit. Our ardor is kindled as we realize that we are moving up, and underclassmen are gradually rising behind us. As we follow the examples of those before us, we try to set high standards for those behind us.

We are sophomores now
And are proud of our class.
We work hard.
We can see the progress.
Looking ahead we see many dreams coming to life.
A Sophomore Prom—
There's nothing more thrilling
Than that first formal dance.

Lab Work
Experiments are a large part of our lives.
We are taught to think, to see
No problem too hard
No task impossible.
Life hums around us.
We are a part of this ecstasy.
We see life giving form.
Minds molded in knowledge

Hearts warmed with friends.
We join clubs,
We revel in school spirit,
We work and learn.
And soon we graduate—
Graduation is our goal.
Maybe college.
Whatever we decide
We'll do our best.

SOPHOMORES

With new leaders, Judy Pace, Vice President, Timmy Mullinax, President, and Becky Hill, Secretary-Treasurer. The Sophomore class brought with them their purple and white banner and the iris, their flower. The belief in their motto "What we are to be, we are now becoming" is shown through their exemplary conduct and their effort to attain more than satisfactory grades.

Accompanying them also was their ambition. We have benefited from their efforts in our clubs, on our ball teams, and in other school activities. Their inspiration and work have brought about many of our soc-hops. East High is truly proud of her sophomores.

BEST PERSONALITY: Linda Fain and Ronald Beddingfield

In our first year of high school we are awed by the splendor of our school. The very walls seem to inspire us, and we make a secret pledge to give our all to the betterment of our school. We are swept up in the spirit of a new beginning. We think "Do we have the school spirit needed?" We do and our every action is for the glory of this, our school.

Being a Freshman is like crossing a long bridge.
 We have already crossed half of this bridge.
 We now stand in the middle.
 Graduation lies far in the future.
 We feel grown-up,
 We are grown-up.
 But we're also mixed up.
 Behind us are the children.
 Ahead the adults.
 Who are we—
 The twist-be-tweeners?
 We are now supposed to have goals.
 We do.

Foreign languages
 Advanced maths
 All seem out of reach.
 We begin climbing
 The ladder of success
 Now we are on the first rung
 The next rung is such a high step.
 We're afraid to take this step.
 But we will
 And we'll make it!

F R E S H M E N

The Freshmen are proud of their class, as well they should be. They are a credit to our high school, and if their officers are an indication of their class leadership as a whole, then they are destined for greater things.

Danny Levi, as President shows great ability, while Suzanne Fain, Vice President, and Kay Wilkie, Secretary-Treasurer are a source of energy to cope with the many problems in their first year in high school. They are now what they are going to become, and these fine officers are doing a good job now.

*Judy
Williams
me
wild party
that night!
huge*

Caught up in the mass confusion brought on by high school years, we felt alone, obscure depressed, feeble humble, weak

Ah, but not so weak. For we know that each of us is a vital link in the huge chain forming East Henderson High. Strength builds our school; school spirit builds our strength.
It binds our

ball teams, organizations
teachers, students;
creates success, defeat
character
all of which make our school.

Having acquired this spirit we learn, ignore
achieve, fail
develop loyalty to ourselves, our school,
state, nation
become hard-working, willing citizens seeking the betterment of ourselves.

It is ours forever. Although aimed toward new and higher goals, it is ever-present, prodding us onward.

*Dear Judy, Sue, Jan!
Hey! How fun!
This is to let you know
I have really enjoyed your sweet friendship the past few years. It's had some real "craps" in arguments but in the end they never broke up our friendship!
Love and kisses,
Linda
P.S. Good luck to you and Mike! I know you'll make
a real cute couple!
Linda*
